

SNIGDHA SINGH

About Me

As a driven professional with a strong background in both HR and Social Media Marketing, I have successfully completed three internships in HR and two in the field of social media marketing. My experience has honed my skills in HR, including recruitment, employee relations, and organizational development, while also equipping me with a deep understanding of social media marketing strategies, content creation, and digital engagement. I am dedicated to delivering results and leveraging my versatile skill set to contribute effectively to any team or project
